

MIDDLE EASTERN CHRISTIANITY: A HISTORIC AND LIVING TRADITION

NEH Summer Institute | June 5-25 2022 | Bradley University | Peoria, IL

Intended for university and college faculty, this institute focuses on the history and culture of Middle Eastern Christians in the Middle East and American society. This three-week institute will guide educators in developing curricula on Middle Eastern Christianity in its broadest senses. Participants will work with specialists from various humanistic disciplines who will share their expertise on religion, language, culture, and inter-religious dynamics in historical and contemporary contexts. The Institute includes educational visits to Arab Christian communities in central Illinois. This institute will be held in-person.

INSTITUTE OBJECTIVES:

- Foster interdisciplinary scholarly relationships
- Develop curricula based on primary sources from a variety of disciplines
- Cultivate a pedagogical community for sharing and innovating teaching methods

Participants will receive a stipend of $2,850. Higher education faculty and advanced graduate students of all disciplines are encouraged to apply.

Details & Application: <https://bradley.edu/middle-east-christianity>

Inquiries: Jason Zaborowki, project co-director, (309) 677-2444

Email: NEH_Mideast_Christianity@bradley.edu

NATIONAL ENDOWMENT
FOR THE HUMANITIES

The Middle Eastern Christianity NEH Summer Institute has been made possible in part by a major grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities: Democracy demands wisdom.

BRADLEY
University